

1 Horse Country Breeches

In England, I visit camera-shy Nicholas, a maker of our traditional Virginia hunt breeches. This specialty shop consists of just five dedicated artisans who create the highest quality handmade garments.

2 Horse Country Crops

A big burlap bag filled with stag antler pieces had just arrived when we stopped by our English whip maker. We chose the most suitable specimens for our Horse Country hunt crops, then separately ordered the ferrule collars for our sought-after crops in single and double mounted styles.

3 Horse Country Appointments

The beauty of our sandwich and flask cases, handmade in England, is unmatched. The flawless exterior leather is set off by a chestnut colored lining and polished nickel fittings.

4 Authentic Old World Antiques

Where better to search for antiques than among the items, including taxidermy, on display in a small shop in the English countryside? Fertile ground to find intriguing items to offer in our store.

5 More Carrots?

We found this sugar, spice and carrot cake in a bakery in Stow-on-the-Wold. Perfect for either a child or pony, we thought this photo was worth sharing. An inspiration for the artistic baker.
